

Hi, This is response to the possibility of the FCC to weaken the Do Not Call program in NJ. I stongly agree with Gov. Codey and his system of Do Not Call. The telemarketers have every right to contact people until that person states he does not want unsolicited contact. If this program is weakened, where are the rights of the people who must deal with these pestering calls. The calls are so numerous at times it's almost impossible to get things done. I firmly believe that if anything stronger penalties should be imposed on telemarketers who violate the list. Thank you for your time. Steve
